Coastal Flood Advisory in effect for Florida Keys during King Tide

MARATHON, FL (Sept. 28, 2026) – The National Weather Service on Monday, Sept. 28, said a Coastal Flood Advisory was in effect for the entire Florida Keys, as a waning Nor'easter still influenced the area along with King tides.

NWS Key West Warning Coordination Meteorologist Jon Rizzo said in his morning briefing minor to moderate saltwater flooding is expected to continue throughout much of this week, with rainfall probability increasing through Thursday.

The higher high tide will transition to the late evening/early pre-dawn hours this week.

Tides are expected to continue around 1 foot above normal predicted values, with the peak tides expected to reach between 3 and 9 inches deep in the lowest streets and lots in areas prone to King Tide flooding.

NWS Key West briefings are schedule for the remainder of the week and will be issued daily at 9:30 a.m.
