Garrett asked that the mural discussion be moved up before the code update.

Wyland Wall Mural Discussion (Gonzalez) – Gonzalez applauded the residents for coming together and explained that this was a private landlord- tenant issue. Gonzalez explained he added this to the agenda as a platform for the residents to be heard. Gonzalez informed everyone he has been in communication with the COO of Surf Style and everyone’s concerns would be addressed.

The Surf Style managing partner, Gilad Ovaknin, informed everyone he was very excited to bring Surf Style to the Keys and the Wyland mural would remain untouched as the intent was not ever to discount the mural, and hearing the strong sentiment from the residents, we understand we made a mistake.

Ovaknin explained that the design team would go back to the drawing boards and redesign the elevation to incorporate the existing mural and expand the remainder of the façade.

Mary Stella wanted confirmation that the wall will in fact be in place as is. Ovaknin confirmed that the mural would not be touched and would remain.

Mandy Rodriguez – thanked Ovaknin for changing his business model.

John Bartus commented he was happy that the wall would remain and congratulated Mayor Still and Vice Mayor Landry on their appointments.

Toni Appell – thanked Ovaknin.

Diane Scott – commented that you cannot tell people what to do, she was neither for nor against the mural.

Gonzalez commented that after the last meeting he realized he could not bring the Quay boat ramp item up for discussion as the prevailing side must bring the item back. After some discussion, Vice Mayor Landry moved to bring the item back to a later meeting in January, Councilmember Smith seconded the motion. Garrett informed everyone he would get a firm to work on this and bring it back.

Garrett wanted to recognize Suzannah Folsom with Juturna Consulting for all of her and her team's work.

Code Department Vacation Rental Compliance Update – Lozier gave an overview of his written report. Matlock asked if the Department had an emergency cell phone yet for Saturday and Sunday coverage. Garrett commented there is a cell phone but if there is an urgent matter at 2:00 am, the police should be called. Residents could go on line to file a complaint through the Open Gov system, or email and we do have officers working on Saturday and Sundays reported Lozier.

* Celtic Festival January 6 and 7 Request to Serve Alcohol at Community Park.

Workshop Discussion Items for 2024 – Garrett commented that he sent the Council emails regarding this and asked the Council to email him and the Clerk. Still asked for a workshop on getting to know your City Council as well as what the department heads do.

Contractors Meeting Update – Armand Messina congratulated the Council on their appointments. Messina reported the Contractor workshop went really well and it cleared up code and permit issues. Messina encouraged the public to contact him if they had any issues. Messina reported that the biggest issues were communication and things being held up by the state and that he was working with the staff for a Flood and FEMA workshop next. Matlock questioned that if emails go unanswered for a period of time, could there be a flag built into the permitting system. Garrett commented that the permitting system and emails were two different systems, but there could be a flag built into the permitting system. Messina commented that one of the biggest issues was the locked doors. Williams explained that progress was being made but for the safety of the employees he was not willing to put employees at risk. There is a process to enter the building, people are not denied. Williams informed everyone there have been two death threats this year, we could have an active shooter situation. Smith suggested a video screen so that people could see inside, and it would be more personal. Messina explained people are feeling alienated. Still explained the world is not what it used to be and to please be patient while we reconfigure the front part of the building.

Citizens' comments

Sandra Van Dusen – commented that she went to see the people who live on 20th Street, and she asked what they wanted and needed and had a list of suggestions to include another dumpster, a larger porta potty with hand sanitizer, electric, water, ant bait and tents. When people are released from jail, that is where they go, and they need to charge their ankle bracelets.

Diane Scott – said she didn't want the chamber doors closed because she couldn't breathe, and the sheriff's officers should be fired as she was falsely arrested twice.

Patricia McGrath commented that she had been watching the government in Marathon since 1982 and has concluded that it is a failed government; we cannot control sewage and it is so hot outside in the hallway, the city hall building is no good, permits issued are for future vacation rentals and this is not a good place for opportunity. McGrath warned that someone will die swimming in the canals because of sewage.

Bruce Tyson – explained Mike Goldberg is eligible to win the CNN hero of the year award for his coral restoration work and if he wins, it is another $10,000 for our oceans. Tyson informed everyone they could cast votes at <https://www.cnn.com/SPECIALS/cnn.heroes/vote/10/#> until December 5th.

Cheryl Miller – suggested a 2024 workshop discussion topic should be our near shore waters as it is our most significant issue, and we have a lot of issues right now.
