Million Air hosts summer camp participants

MARATHON, FL (July 21, 2026) – For a group of summer camp participants, it was an episode of “Who Wants to be at Million Air?” at Florida Keys Marathon International Airport.

The staff of Million Air, which provides luxury executive terminals and airport-based services for private aviation, aircraft owners, and pilots, treated campers from the Lower Keys to a tour on Thursday, July 16, according to a press release from Monroe County Airport Marketing and Communications Manager Katie Atkins.

During the field trip, the campers visited a hangar and explored an historic BT-13 aircraft on loan for the day from the Florida Keys Flight Academy.

The youth also received lessons in basic aircraft marshaling signals and aerodynamics, and took part in a paper airplane competition.

The airport gave special thanks to Million Air’s Brook Bezanis and Christian Westdickenberg for their continued efforts to host Monroe County summer campers.
